SAMPLING REQUIREMENTS

ID	Citation	Does the sampling firm comply with this section?	Yes	No	N/A	Notes
Introduction
This checklist applies to sampling firms collecting and transporting cannabis samples. A sampling firm must meet the requirements of Part 130 - Cannabis Laboratories, the OCM Sampling Quality System Standard (SQSS), and any other guidance issued by OCM.
Laboratory Sampling Firm Requirements and Technician Qualifications			Yes	No	N/A	Notes
1	OCM SQSS, Section III	Must establish a documented quality system that describes its policies and procedures.
2	§ 130.19 (j)	Submit an application upon a significant change in the sampling process or procedure, change in employees who perform sampling and transportation and change in vehicles used in transportation. However, provided a re-application has been made in writing to the Office within thirty (30) calendar days of the change.
3	§ 130.19 (a) and § 130.20 (c)	May only employ persons who are twenty-one (21) years of age or older.
4	§ 130.19 (b), § 130.20 (a) and OCM SQSS, Section III	Train all sampling and transportation employees on appropriate sampling and transportation procedures , and such training shall be documented.
5	§ 130.19 (c)	Require all sampling and transportation employees to complete data integrity training upon hire and annually thereafter , and evidence that such training was performed for a sampling and transportation employee shall be documented and available upon request.
6	§ 130.19 (d)	Carry a copy of the firm's approval and the copy shall, upon request, be provided to any person requesting the services of a laboratory sampling firm.
7	§ 130.20 (a) and OCM SQSS, Section III	Technicians must possess a strong working knowledge of all sampling and transportation methods for which they perform.

SAMPLING REQUIREMENTS
Laboratory Sampling Firm Requirements and Technician Qualifications			Yes	No	N/A	Notes
8	§ 130.20 (a)	Technicians must perform routine and non-routine sampling and transportation of cannabis product ... using appropriate equipment, instrumentation, and methods.
9	OCM SQSS, Section III	If the sampling SOP is significantly amended, a technician must be retrained on the procedure, and the training documented.
10	OCM SQSS, Section III	Must maintain a master of list of all controlled quality system documents.
11	OCM SQSS, Section III	Must maintain a signature log that includes the names, initials and signatures for all individuals who are responsible for signing or initialing any sampling and transportation record.

12	§ 130.19 (e) and § 130.21 (b)	Conduct all sampling as set forth in this Part and the OCM SQSS, Section IV. (Sampling Standards).
13	§ 130.21 (a), (b) ,and OCM SQSS, Section IV A and D	Obtains a representative sample of medical cannabis or adult-use cannabis as determined by the Office for testing by a cannabis laboratory. This is for each cannabis product batch or pre-roll batch by collecting, at minimum, the number of sample increments relative to the batch size as listed in Table 1 for final packaged units .

SAMPLING REQUIREMENTS
Sampling of Cannabis Product and Requirements of Sampling Firm			Yes	No	N/A	Notes
14	OCM SQSS, Section IV (A1)	A greater number of sample increments if necessary may be collected to perform the required testing or to ensure that the samples obtained are representative. Any change must be documented on the chain of custody and shipping manifest.
15	OCM SQSS, Section IV (B)	The cannabis product batch or pre-roll batch from which a representative sample is obtained shall contain no more than 150,000 units. Laboratory analyses of a sample collected from a cannabis product batch containing more than 150,000 units shall be deemed invalid and the cannabis product batch or pre-roll batch from which the representative sample was obtained shall not be released for retail sale.
16	OCM SQSS, Section IV (C)	The licensee must retain representative samples to allow for complete testing of the product at least two (2) times. The licensee must retain the samples for at least thirty (30) days following the date of expiration, or longer if directed by the Office.
17	OCM SQSS, Section IV	Flower is collected in its final form and ready for packaging for sample collection and compliance testing. Collection of bulk flower (e.g., raw plant material – bulk) is not permitted for compliance testing.
18	OCM SQSS, Section IV	Option 1: If the licensee chose to submit bulk oil for testing, the sampling technician must witness the licensee sample throughout the entire bulk container prior to placing the oil into a sanitary container. The mass of oil must be representative of the lot to perform all required compliance testing, except for metals testing (Table 2).
19	OCM SQSS, Section IV	The producer of the product will also send a subset of samples in the apparatus the oil is intended for to be readily consumable (i.e., vape cartridge, vape pen, syringe, etc.) to perform metals testing. The apparatus may be pre-filled prior to the sampling event, or it can be filled at the time of the sampling event.				Due to the low volume of some vaporization products, the lab may require additional oil in the apparatus to perform the test.

20	OCM SQSS, Section IV	Option 2: A sampling technician must obtain a set of final form vapes (i.e., vape cartridge, vape pen, syringe, etc.) using a random number generator. The sampling technician must collect a set based on the cannabis product batch size as described in Table 2.
